FOUR YEARS OLD TOMORROW

Tomorrow closes the fourth successful year of the public library in this city. October 11, 1904, was the formal opening of the library, and since its opening the library has grown by leaps and bounds till now it is one of the best equipped libraries in the country. The building committee of the library was Mr. E. P. Noble, D. A. Yelzer, Harry Savage and James Laag. Mr. A. L. Lammert was the architect.

The first trustees appointed for the library were D. A. Yelzer, mayor, E. W. Bagby, president, Harry Savage, vice president, Mrs. A. R. Meyers, secretary, Mrs. Louis Hieke, Charles Wolfe and George C. Wallace. The changes in the trustees since the first appointment are Mayor James P. Smith succeeding D. A. Yelzer, and Mr. Savage resigned as vice president, and Mrs. Louis Hieke appointed vice president. Mrs. A. R. Meyers was appointed as a trustee to fill the vacancy. With these exceptions the board remains the same. It was through the active work of the Rev. Mr. Perryman, Mayor Yelzer and the city board that the money was secured from Andrew Carnegie.

Miss Ruby Corbett and Miss Mamie Harnham were appointed the librarians. Miss Corbett resigned in October, 1906, and was succeeded by Miss Alice Bagby, who is now assistant librarian.

During the last four years the library has been instrumental in arousing the interest of the towns of Owensboro, Metropolis and Mayfield, so that these cities hope to have Carnegie public libraries in the course of the next year. Money has been promised them by Mr. Carnegie.

Since the opening 5,557 books have been added. The circulation has increased by years as follows: 1902, 6,500; 1903, 8,504; 1904, 9,660; 1905, 24,714; 1906, 22,527; 1907, 28,798.

The attendance in the reading room has increased by years as follows: 1902, 6,500; 1903, 8,504; 1904, 9,660; 1905, 24,714; 1906, 22,527; 1907, 28,798.

Col. Stewart Must Retire.
Washington, Oct. 10.—The retiring board recommended the retirement of Colonel Stewart on account of physical disability.

Thief in the House.
Twenty dollars in bills was stolen from the home of Mrs. Mamie McIntyre, 512 North Sixth street, this morning by some thief. The family was about the house but the money was taken from a drawer that was unlocked. No noise was made by the burglar, who operated fearlessly in broad daylight. The police department was notified.

Billy Buck, Gus Thompson's fast trotter, won the free for all at Jackson, Tenn., Thursday, making the last heat in 2:17 1/2. The first heat of the race was won by Fred Wieg, owned by Fred Pixley, of Detroit, the time being 2:21. Billy Buck was the next three heats. Red Wing was second and Auzetta, owned by R. H. Taft Would Cement Friendship.

Cincinnati, Oct. 10.—The Fort Thomas Taft club visited Judge Taft today and later he called at the federal building and greeted his former associates on the bench. La Sun Wing, editor of the largest paper in Hong Kong, visited Judge Taft. He met the candidate in the orient. He expressed the hope of Taft's election, because it would cement friendly relations between China and the United States.

Candidates on Night Riding.

The prosecution of night riders has entered into the race for commonwealth's attorney between John G. Lovett and E. H. Puryear. Last night in a joint debate at the court house the candidates spoke to nearly 100 voters, and the enforcement of the law against the night riders was a main issue. Mr. Lovett charged that Mr. Puryear failed to keep the speaking appointments in Marshall county until the night rider district had been reached. To show how the citizens of McCracken stand on lawlessness applause was given Mr. Lovett when he said he was the only commonwealth's attorney to send a night rider to prison. The first statement of Mr. Puryear in his speech was that any inference that he favored night riding was false, and he said: "Mr. Lovett and everybody else knows that I have never favored night riding."

Both candidates took up past records, and Mr. Puryear accused Mr. Lovett of making many promises, where felony cases were made misdemeanors a fine was paid instead of a penitentiary term given. Mr. Lovett took Mr. Puryear's record as city police judge and he said that as judge he had tried a man for a felony charge and released him. Both speakers spoke of the records that had been made, and the frequent applause was given the speakers when a point was scored.

ENGLAND, FRANCE AND RUSSIA CAN SETTLE TROUBLE IN BALKANS, ACTING TOGETHER

Servians Demand War Against Austria or Threaten Civil War.

London, Oct. 10.—It is believed that England, France and Russia can straighten out the Balkan trouble unless Servia precipitates war. If a war starts its ramifications will be great, and undoubtedly result in the obliteration of the Servian empire. Russia, England and France joined in assuring Turkey they won't permit alterations of the Berlin treaty without consent of all the signatories. It is believed this will force Austria to surrender Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Belgrade, Oct. 10.—Servia faces the alternative of declaring war against Austria or civil war, the people demanding an attack on Austria. A revolution is certain if the government refuses. More excitement attending the opening of the special session of the national assembly than during the assassination of King Alexander. It is almost certain the assembly will yield to the popular demand for war. People threaten to overthrow King Peter unless he declares war and make the crown prince king. Ministers know that war is suicidal, but they cannot overcome the popular demand.

Report of Hostilities.
Vienna, Oct. 10.—A telephone message received here from Budapest says Servians today killed three Austrian gendarmes on the Bosnia frontier, whereupon gunboats bombarded the Servians. No confirmation of the story has been received here.

After "Near Beer"

Elwood Noel, deputy United States marshal, arrested George Howell, Jr., of Slater, last night on a charge of bootlegging. Howell is alleged to have sold an alleged soft drink. Cases based on sales of the drink have been tried in police court, and this case marks the initial proceeding of the government's attack on alleged "near beer."

Holman Children Back

Julia and Michael Holman, who disappeared from the home of the friendless have been returned to the home, and once more are in good hands. The children say they regret leaving of their own accord, but it is the belief that someone misled them in getting away from the home. Trustee Officer Jack Nelson located the children at Grand Rivers, and John Frazier, a secret service man, took them in charge and returned them to Paducah.

Levee Gives Way

New Orleans, Oct. 10.—Seventy-five thousand dollars was lost through the collapse of 400 feet of the Mississippi levee. Four railroad tracks and seven cars were immersed. Owing to insufficient bulkheads the foundation was washed out by heavy rains.

Strike in Shoe Industry.

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 10.—The whole New England shoe industry is threatened with a tie-up through the laster's strike. Manufacturers issued a statement that they won't arbitrate.

Cholera in the Philippines.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The official report shows that approximately there were 12,000 deaths in the Philippines from cholera since January 1. By August 15 there were 12,316 cases. The deaths averaged 500 weekly since. Only 14 deaths were reported in Manila, where the authorities have thorough control.

Soldierly Stock Sold.

Trustee Arthur Y. Martin sold the stock of the Paducah Saddlery company this morning for $600. Alex Kolb bought the stock at the highest bid and it was transferred to John Wirth, the former owner. The plant will be put in operation immediately. This is the second sale of the plant. The first sale brought $655, but it did not stand.

FIRST FOOTBALL OF SEASON TODAY AT LEAGUE PARK

The first football game of the season is on this afternoon at Wallace park between the sturdy team of Marion (Ill.) High school and the Paducah High school. The teams lined up: Marion—Coffee, re; Brambridge, rt; Heam, rg; Stambaugh, c; Boers, lg; Cline, lt; Walker, te; Nance, qb; Gent, lb; Penn, rf; Hayburn, fb. Paducah—Luffenburg, re; Hays, rt; Sells, rg; Harth, c; Ogilvie, lg; Scott, lt; Epperheimer, lb; Mercer, lb; Katterjohn, rb; Wilhelm, qb and captain; Burton, fb. Substitutes: Rinkoff and Yarbrough.

First Game This Morning.
The first football game among the second teams was this morning when the second High school team won from the Odd Sox team by a score of 11 to 0. Horace Terrell and Reese Elliott made touchdowns for High school by steady bucking of the line and Shelton kicked the goal. All of the players are cool and put up a creditable game.

CHARGE FUGITIVE WITH STEALING HORSE AND BUGGY

Dawson City Murderer Said to Have Taken Rig From Paducah With Him.

Fulton Officer Believes He Has Found Floyd Snyder.

PASSED THROUGH SATURDAY

A telephone message was received last night by Hawley & Son, liverymen, from Officer Myers, of Fulton, that he had located Floyd Snyder, the alleged Dawson Springs murderer, who escaped by coming to Paducah and is alleged to have taken a rig from the liverymen, and that he expected to have the man under arrest today.

Snyder shot and killed John Hollman, a prominent citizen of Dawson, last Saturday, it is reported. He made his escape and came to Paducah, buying a suit of clothes at Ben Michael's store, where he left his old clothing. He then went to Hawley's stable and hired a rig, claiming he wanted to drive to the county.

When he failed to return the police were notified and word was sent to surrounding towns. Thursday he was heard of in Hickman county and the Fulton officers followed him into Tennessee, where he is now believed to be in hiding. Besides the $200 reward offered by the state for the arrest of Snyder for killing Hollman, the Modern Woodmen, of Dawson, offer an additional $100, and there is a standing reward of $50 for the capture of a horse thief, making the net sum of $350 that will go to the officer making the arrest. Snyder is known in Paducah and is a personal acquaintance of Patrolman Morris.

Teachers Get Pay

The county teachers received their first quarterly pay at Superintendent Billington's office today, and $2,409.71 was distributed among the pedagogues. Much praise was given Treasurer Farley for arranging for the money to be forthcoming to the teachers, when other departments of the state government are forced to wait for salaries.

Maxim's Warning

New York, Oct. 10.—Hiram Maxim, the noted gun manufacturer, lectured to the American Chemical society and warned them America is woefully unprepared for war. She is very weak compared with Japan. She has no army and her fleet is the most inadequate of any nation, compared with its needs.

Jeanette Brockman

Jeanette, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brockman, of Maxon Mills, died this morning at 9 o'clock. The cause of her death was membranous croup. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The burial will be in the Harper cemetery near Florence station.

WEATHER.

Fair, with partly cloudy east portion today and Sunday; cooler, light frost west portion tonight and general Sunday night. Highest temperature yesterday, 63; lowest today, 40.

SOLDIERS WEST OF US.

Another detail of soldiers has been sent into western Kentucky at the request of local authorities to protect citizens from night riders. In addition to those at Murray, the Hickman company is stationed at Hickman, having arrived there last evening. Instead of the Columbus company, Paducah now has soldiers east and west of her.

CUBS AND TIGERS BATTLING TODAY TO BE CHAMPIONS

Detroit, Oct. 10.—The Chicago Nationals and Detroit Americans are playing the first game of the series for the world's championship here today before an immense crowd.

First inning—Chicago, 0; Detroit, 1.
Second inning—Chicago, 0; Detroit, 0.
Third inning—Chicago, 4; Detroit, 0.
Summers is pitching.
Fourth inning—Chicago, 0; Detroit, 0.
Fifth inning—Chicago, 0; Detroit, 0.
Sixth inning—Chicago, 0; Detroit, 0.
The Sun will bulletin tomorrow's game.
Seventh inning—Chicago, 1; Detroit, 3. Overall relieved Reulbach.
Eighth inning—Chicago, 0; Detroit, 2. Brown relieves Overall.
Final score 10 to 6 in favor of Chicago.

BENEDICTION FROM POPE.

New York, Oct. 10.—Archbishop Farley, who returned home from a visit to Rome and attendance upon the eucharistic congress at London, brought this message from the pope to the American people:
"Tell the people of the United States that for all they have done for the Catholic church in America I send my heartfelt benediction, from the highest to the lowest."

PORTS PROTEST SENT OUT.

Constantinople, Oct. 10.—The protest of the ports concerning the annexation by Austria-Hungary of the occupied provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina was dispatched to the powers today. It is practically identical with the protest against the Bulgarian declaration of independence. Doubt regarding the success of the proposed international conference persists in Constantinople. It is declared here that Austria-Hungary is willing to participate to the extent of discussing Bulgarian independence, but she insists that all debate on the occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina be excluded.

The reiterated report that the Turkish government has ordered the mobilization of the army is unfounded. The government is simply filling up the existing deficiencies on the army corps at Adrianople and Saloniki.

STATE SECRETARY BARNETT SAYS EVENING SUN HAS BEEN FAIR TO THE ORGANIZATION

Malicious Effort to Connect the Union
With Night Riders in Popular Mind
by Lie Foisted on the Sun.

COMMON PRACTICE FOR EMPLOYES TO VENT SPITE THROUGH ARTICLES IN PAPER NOT REVIEWED

"Resolved, that we as a union do hereby extend our thanks to The Paducah Evening Sun and all other papers in the state for their liberal support in behalf of the Farmers' Union since it has been in the state."—Resolution adopted by the Farmers' Union at its state meeting here August 8.

Those, who remember how the News-Democrat reporter vented his spite by a display article on the front page of the paper, which the managers and editors declared they knew nothing about, will not be surprised when they learn that the motive of the slanderous effort to drag the Farmers' Union into the night rider situation, was personal malice of an employee of that paper against a state officer of the Farmers' Union.

Paducahans remember the big parade of the Farmers' Union when it was organized in Paducah this summer, and also remember that the night riders have been burning and killing for more than two years, and it will be difficult for the News-Democrat to harmonize the two facts, either by direct assertion or by delectable innuendo.

Yesterday The Sun began its leading editorial with this sentence, and there was nothing that went before it:
"To what Democratic officials and judges in western Kentucky does the News-Democrat refer as the ones, who have done most to suppress night riding and bring the outlaw to justice? There are eight thousand night riders in the organization."

Commenting on it this morning the News-Democrat said:
"The Farmers' Union has a membership of 8,000 in Kentucky, the assertion therefore made The Paducah Sun yesterday that there are 8,000 night riders in the organization is an insult to the Farmers' Union which the News-Democrat does not feel it should allow to pass without comment."

The Sun never mentioned the Farmers' Union directly or indirectly in its editorial. In fact the Farmers' Union has more than a million members, and the statement as to the number of night riders was taken from Governor Willson's speech here.

That the News-Democrat's reply was not intended to hurt the Sun so much as the Farmers' Union is made manifest by the context. We quote, capitalizing emphatic words to show the subtle phrasing of the insinuation:
"The charge that EVERY member of the Farmers' Union is a night rider as asserted by The Sun, casts a slur upon an organization" which numbers in its membership SOME of the best men in the state; men who are as far from the lawless spirit of night riding in their sentiment as it is possible for them to be. MANY of them are the strongest upholders of the law we have, and to assert that the ENTIRE membership constitutes an organized band of law breakers is a flagrant misrepresentation of facts, and an insult to the organization."

The casual reader would gather from the context that some of the Farmers' Union members are night riders, and that the News-Democrat is trying to protect the good name of such as do not belong.
It doesn't matter to The Sun what the News-Democrat has to say of it; for the Farmers' Union at its state meeting here adopted resolutions thanking The Sun for its fairness, a distinction which was not accorded the News-Democrat, and which in a measure accounts for that paper permitting the slander to find room in its columns, conspicuously displayed.

For The Sun it may be said that the News-Democrat's editorial is a contemptible lie and the writer knew he was writing a lie when he wrote it.

Secretary Barnett's Statement.
We shall let State Secretary R. L. Barnett speak for the Farmers' Union. A reporter for The Sun saw him this morning and in the presence of the reporter Mr. Barnett read the two editorials. Then Mr. Barnett said: "There is nothing in The Sun's editorial, that directly or indirectly connects the Farmers' Union with the night riders. The Sun has always been fair to us. We arc just as much opposed to night riding as is The Sun, and I believe if our organization had not gained the foothold it has west of the Tennessee river, this section would have been overrun by night riders, just like that east of the river."

"Mr. Barnett do you not resent having your organization dragged into a newspaper controversy about night riders?" he was asked.
"We don't appreciate it much—but please let it go at that. We are refraining from personalities as much as possible. Our organization has its ends to attain. We have enemies, but we are pressing on to our goal, fighting only what opposes our progress. However, I am glad The Sun intends to speak up for us, and I am glad to be able to say that The Sun has always treated us very kindly."

Pay Car in Morning

The Illinois Central pay car, which is due to arrive in Paducah the latter part of next week, will be running on a different schedule than has been in vogue for a year and will reach Paducah at 7:45 in the morning. The car will be brought in by passenger train No. 822, from Cairo, and will pay at way stations from Cairo to Paducah when the regular stops are made at stations, all trackmen having been given notice to meet the train at the stations. The definite date for the arrival of the car probably will be received tomorrow.

Roasts Stock Exchange

New York, Oct. 10.—Edward F. Buchanan, member of the defunct A. O. Brown company, created the greatest financial sensation in years in an interview denouncing the Stock Exchange as a gambling den, "a vampire sucking the lifeblood of the country's tollers." He advocates abolishment of the ticker and speculative stock trading. He declares "wash the stock market" which caused the Brown failure, which caused the Brown failure, are duplicated daily by reputable set seasons of years.

Strange Murder Case

New York, Oct. 10.—The police are working to solve the mysterious deaths of a well dressed man and woman whose bodies were found in Jamaica bay bound face to face with wires. The indications are they were in the water a short time. Both victims of the water were people of refinement. The police believe it was murder and sales, which caused the Brown failure, are duplicated daily by reputable set seasons of years.

Out Today

YOU'LL find this magazine
a very handy thing to have.
It shows all the new clothing, hats and furnishings that will be worn this fall and winter; two pages of "What to Wear" and also the correct dress chart for all occasions.

This book is looked for and welcomed every season by well-dressed men, and by women who want their husbands and sons well dressed.

They accept it as an authority on correct style; many even who have never worn our clothes follow its guidance; its value in this way to the man who receives it is even greater than its value as an advertisement to our clothes.

This puts an obligation upon us to furnish absolutely reliable information in styles. We do it in the "Wallerstein's Fashion Magazine;" we stake our reputation as creators of correct style in men's and boys' clothes on the contents of this book. It shows clothes as they ought to be made.

We shall be pleased to send a copy of this Magazine to your address free on request.

Pretty Recipe Shower Luncheon For Miss Wallace and Miss Decker.
Mrs. James Campbell Flournoy's luncheon at one o'clock today at her home on Jefferson boulevard, was a pretty compliment to the charming brides of the coming week, Miss Helen Decker and Miss Frances Wallace and their coterie of attractive girl at- tendants.

The beautiful home was decorated throughout in a scheme of white and gold and the round luncheon table effectively symbolized these colors. The centerpiece was a Bride's Shower Bouquet of bride roses. Streamers of white satin ribbon extended from this to the sixteen places around the table with the place cards attached at the ends. These were pretty souvenirs book marks of white satin with the guests' names lettered in gold. The table was lighted by white candles in brass candelabras. An elaborate and delightful course menu was served. It was a Recipe Shower and Miss Wallace and Miss Decker were presented dainty books bound in white satin from their wedding gowns, in which each guest had written a fa- vorite recipe, as a charming souvenir of the occasion.

Seated at the table were: Mrs. Flournoy, Mrs. Louis M. Heke, Mrs. George C. Wallace, Miss Helen Decker, Miss Frances Wallace, Miss Myrtle Decker, Miss Belle Cave, Miss Kath- erine Whitefield, Miss Pauline Purcell, of Lexington; Miss Lucy Patton, of Virginia; Miss Ruth Hall, Miss Faith Langstaff, Miss Blanche Hills, Miss Ethel Brooks, Miss Lillian Gregory, Miss Betta Hatfield.

Mrs. Wheeler Entertains Magazine Club.

The first meeting of the Magazine club for this season was held on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Charles K. Wheeler, the new president of the club, was the hostess, entertaining with a luncheon at one o'clock at her home, 501 Kentucky avenue.

The luncheon was a beautifully ap- pointed affair with covers laid for 29. The guests were seated at a large table and the smaller tables around it. The club colors, white and gold, were carried out in the decoration of the table and in the luncheon menu. A bouquet of white roses was the centerpiece of the large table. A white rose was at each plate and the place cards were hand-painted in yellow flowers. These were the work Miss Mary Wheeler, the talented daughter of the house, who is at college in New York. The lunch- eon was a five-course one and the white and yellow motif was prettily emphasized in the fruit course of oranges tied together with white rib- bon. In the white and yellow brick- ice cream and individual cakes laid in white with bows of yellow ribbon, and in the yellow and white candy served with the coffee.

The meeting of the club followed the luncheon. Mrs. Wheeler assumed her office with a graceful speech. At the business session the name of Miss Mattie Fowler was presented to fill the vacancy caused by the resigna- tion of Mrs. Louis Maxwell from the club. The year books were distrib- uted. They are prettily gotten up in the club colors on rough paper. The program was an especially de- lightful one. Miss Ethel Morrow reported from the Literary Digest on Mansfield and Irving. Miss Kathleen Whitefield gave a sketch of "Jane Adams of Hull House" from the Circle's series on "good work of the world". From the Harper's Magazine Mrs. Wheeler gave a humorous ar- ticle, "The Uses of Fathers" and Mrs. Mildred Davis elaborated the idea with a clever illustration of "A Mother's Youngest Son". Miss Julia Scott sang very delightfully. Punch was served at the close of the program.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

County Court Clerk.
The Sun is authorized to announce Hiram Smedley a candidate for reelection to the office of Clerk of the McCracken County Court subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Daily Thought.
Make yourself necessary to somebody.—Emerson.

But you can't get Representative Eugene Graves to admit this is a good Bryan year.

HOW TO DESTROY NIGHT RIDING
Why, Bless Your Heart! As long as you keep on voting the Democratic ticket, these Democratic county officials and judges will be helpless to do anything against the night riders. The night riders know the counties, judicial districts and congressional and legislative districts are Democratic, so they all go into the majority party. They would go into the Republican party if it had an overwhelming majority. They form a solid faction in the Democratic party, sufficient to swing the primary. Anybody obnoxious to them gets their solid opposition. Anybody favorable to them gets their solid support. What can county officials do? If they oppose the night riders, they are defeated; if they suit the night riders, you will vote for them. What would you do under such circumstances?
But if you will show these officials and night riders that when the night riders control the Democratic party, the counties and districts will go Republican, you will soon destroy their political power. It's the only way you can, isn't it?
Can you show us any other way?

THE POLITICAL DRIFT.
It seems that when a newspaper stoops to tell the exact, unprejudiced truth during the heat of a presidential campaign, adherents of its own party accuse it of "lying down," and the other side says it is "giving up."
Just because we know that, we are going to preface this editorial by reaffirming our oft stated firm conviction that Mr. Bryan won't carry any more states than Parker did. And that is not very many, as you all know.
Now we are just going to show you briefly what it is that ticks the unthinking Democratic editors so much there is a landslide running their way. We don't want them to be too much overcome the day after election, and we would save the rest of you losing any money on the result.

The Republican party won't make any gains this year. It can't. It has made about all that could be expected of it in the last twelve years, and would be better off if it hadn't made such a whooper last time. Why, don't you remember, Roosevelt had 2,545,915 more votes than Taft, and 1,736,264 more votes than all the other candidates put together. You all know that isn't the natural Republican vote and that only the presence of conditions, which don't occur simultaneously in a hundred years, could duplicate it.

There wasn't much doubt in your mind about McKinley's election in 1896 or 1900, was there? No more popular, no better man was ever produced by the country, was there? The party was never more harmonious, and never was better financed and never had a better campaign manager than on those two occasions. Yet McKinley in 1896 had a popular plurality of only 601,864 and in 1900 of $49,790.

Let us imagine that McKinley came after Roosevelt in 1900, for instance, and there was in October evidence of a falling off from 2,516,515 to $49,790, and all of it in the cities of the north and none of it in the south. Don't you think the drift of more than 1,900,000 votes in the cities away from the Republican candidates would be observable? Wouldn't you hear on every hand this remark: "I voted for Roosevelt, but I am going to support Bryan this year?" And wouldn't that expression figure in every straw vote you could take?

Now, just keep your finger on the place, and substitute Taft for McKinley. Isn't it simple—that surface? Some Democrats are slipping back into their party, but there is nothing like the maximum change we look for, for example, and nothing like the whole number will go back to the Democratic party. The Independents and the Populists and the Socialists are claiming gains this year, gains from the Democratic party as well as the Republican.

But that is just the city vote. How about the American farmer? He will decide this election. He is getting bigger prices for his crops now than he ever did before. Out west he is a Roosevelt man to the last. Bryan knew this and tried to avoid a clash with Roosevelt, posing as the Roosevelt heir. He didn't have the strawberry mark of identification and is abusing the administration now.

You can't take a straw vote in Kentucky or anywhere else in the United States without discovering that the drift of the farmer is toward Taft, while the east is lost to Bryan by his proposition to Russianize American business by establishing federal surveillance of a man's affairs and limiting his activity; to cut the tariff to pieces a little bit at a time; to put men at work estimating in their own way how railroad assets compare with their stock issues; to make the injunction, one of the safeguards of American liberty, of no avail by depriving a judge of the power to enforce his orders; to make deposits in speculative banks as safe as deposits in a sound bank, by compelling the latter to insure the deposits at its expense; and the memory of his free silver craze, his desire to turn the Philippines over to Japan and his government ownership of railroad scheme.

Don't worry about this election, but cast your vote for national prosperity and a reign of law in Kentucky.

junction. If a court has not the right to punish a party for contempt of its orders, injunction or otherwise, the court's orders are of no effect. To provide for a jury trial in cases of contempt of a court's order is to strike a blow at the vitals of our judiciary system. The injunction and the writ of habeas corpus are the two greatest safeguards of Anglo-Saxon liberties, and they must not be tampered with.

The only cases complained of are in the secondary boycott and such violence. What good would a man favor either or would ask his friend to vote to permit of either? Yet, it is only in such cases that anyone desires a jury trial for contempt of court. Is it more important to union labor, is it more important to the authority of the courts and respect for their mandates be lowered than that a policy be continued by which the American wage scale is kept above that of Europe?

DUN'S REVIEW.

New York, Oct. 10.—Substantial progress toward industrial recovery was made during the past week, a very large number of wage earners returning work in the mills and factories that had been wholly or partially idle for many months. Yet the resumption is by no means uniform, many undertakings being deferred until after the election.

Contracts for finished steel are restricted to current needs, but a large tonnage is under negotiations. New projects are deferred until after the election, when much business will be placed, confidence is shown by the steadiness of prices and gradual increase in pig iron production.

Evidence accumulates that stocks of dry goods are low almost beyond precedent, and the urgency for quick shipments tends to generate confidence among buyers who show a disposition to anticipate requirements in the primary markets for cotton goods. Men's wear for immediate delivery is the best feature of woollens, but scarcely any new lines are fully sold.

Better conditions are reported at the New England footwear factories, contracts appearing of substantial proportion for shipment during the first quarter of 1909. The new business is chiefly for medium priced goods. Manufacturers' salesmen send in encouraging reports from all sections of the country and local jobbers report good orders from city and out-of-town dealers that invariably call for prompt shipment.

Bank Clearings.

New York, Oct. 10.—Total bank clearings compiled by Bradstreet for the principal cities in the United States for the past week, $2,749,290,000, $2,722,983,000 in the corresponding week last year.

WATER NOTICE.

Patrons of the water company are reminded that their rents expired September 30, and their quarterly rent is now due and payable at the office of the company. Those who desire to renew their should do so before it is forgotten, as all premises not paid for on or before October 10 will be shut off.

Yerkes Sees Victory.

Washington, Oct. 10.—That Kentucky will go for Taft this fall, is the belief of John W. Yerkes, of Danville and Washington, former Republican national committeeman for Kentucky, and commissioner of interior revenue Mr. Yerkes has been out of politics for a year, but he still retains an active interest in the subject.
"I can see no reason why he should not carry Kentucky this year," said Mr. Yerkes. "We have entire control of the state government. We have control of Louisville, Lexington and Covington, where our Democratic friends have been in the habit of counting their alleged majorities. We have more county sheriffs than we have had for a number of years.
"With all of these officials Republicans, we ought to be able to prevent fraud in the large cities and also in the smaller sections of the state."

The judge and Armitage laughed at these explanations, though there was a little constraint upon them all. The baron's question was still unanswered. "You ceased to be of particular interest some time ago. While you were sick the fraudulent Von Kiesel was arrested in Australia, and I believe some of the newspapers apologized to you handsomely."

"That was very generous of them," and Armitage shifted his position slightly. A white skirt had flashed again in the Chalonre garden, and he was trying to follow it. At the same time there were questions he wished to ask and have answered. The baroness von Marhof had already gone to Newport; the baron lingered merely out of good feeling toward Armitage, for it was as Armitage that he was still known to the people of Storm Springs, to the doctor and nurses who tended him.

"The news from Vienna seems tranquil enough," remarked Armitage. He had not yet answered the baron's question, and the old gentleman grew restless at the delay. "I read in the Neue Presse awhile ago that Charles Louis is showing an unexpected capacity for affairs. It is reported, too, that an heir is in prospect. The Windic conspiracy is only a bad dream, and we may safely turn to other affairs."

"Yes, but the margin by which we escaped is too narrow to contemplate." "We have a saying that a mile is as good as a mile," remarked Judge that-borne. "We have never told Mr. Armitage that we found the papers in the safety box at New York to be as he described them."

"They are dangerous. We have hesitated as to whether there was more risk in destroying them than in preserving them," said the baron. Armitage shrugged his shoulders and laughed. "They are out of my hands. I positively decline to accept their further custody."

A messenger appeared with a telegram, which the baron opened and read. "I am from the commander of the Sardinia Alghero, who is just leaving this morning for Trieste and reports his prisoners safe and in good health."

"It was a happy thought to have him continue his cruise to the Brazilian coast before returning home. By the time he delivers those two scoundrels to his government their fellow conspirators will have forgotten they ever lived. But—and Judge Chalonre shrugged his shoulders and smiled indignantly—"as a lawyer I deplore such methods. Think what a stir would be made in this country if it were known that two men had been kidnapped in the sovereign state of Virginia and taken out to sea under cover of ships carrying our flag for transfer to an Austrian battleship! That's what we get for being a free republic that cannot countenance the extradition of a foreign citizen for a political offense."

Armitage was not listening. Questions of international law and comity had no interest for him whatever. The valley breeze, the glory of the blue Virginia sky, the far stretching lines of hills that caught and led the eye like sea billows, the dark green of shrubbery, the slope of upland meadows and that elusive, vanishing gleam of white before such things as these the splendor of sunrise and the night of amies were unworthy of man's desire.

The baron's next words broke harshly upon his mood. "The gratitude of kings is not a thing to be despised. You could go to Vienna and begin where most men leave off. Strong hands are needed in Austria. You could make yourself the younger, the great Stroebel!"

The mention of his name brought back the baron's still unanswered question. He referred to it now as he stood before them smiling.

"I have answered all your questions but once; I shall answer them a little later. If you will excuse me for just a few minutes I will go and get the answer—that is, gentlemen, I hope I shall be able to bring it back with me."

He turned and ran down the steps and strode away through the long shadows of the garden. They heard the gate click after him as he passed into the Chalonre grounds, and then they glanced at each other with such a glance as may pass between two members of a peace commission sitting on the same side of the table who will not admit to each other that the latest supposition of the enemy has been in the nature of a surprise. They did not, however, suffer themselves to watch Armitage, but diplomatically related their glances.

Through the green walls went Armitage. He had not been out of the baron's ground before since he was carried thence from the bungalow, and it was pleasant to be free once more and able to stir without a nurse at his heels, and he swung along with his head and shoulders erect, walking with the confident stride of a man who has no doubt whatever of his immediate aim.

JERRY PORTER

SPEAKS ABOUT MAN THE KIND GOD SOUGHT.

Tells of Wonderful Feat of American People in Settling Peaceably Race Question.

Clinton, Ky., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Jerry M. Porter, by invitation of the local committee, delivered the welcome address of the white people of Clinton to the Colored Baptist Green Valley association, in session at Clinton, last night. The church, which was filled to overflowing with people, white and black, to hear the address. A number of white Democrats occupied the stand with Mr. Porter. The address was delivered in Mr. Porter's characteristic style of wit and humor, pathos and thought. He took for his subject "Find Me a Man."

Mr. Porter said in part that in olden times when God sent His prophets out to find Him a man, He nowhere could find one. He found one a Gentile, nor find one a Negro. But always said find me a man, a man of truth, a man of judgment, a man of moral power and religious strength.

He said the American people had astonished the world in being able in only forty years to settle the greatest race question known in history, between the master and his slave, so satisfactorily that they are living free in perfect peace under the same flag of their country. Why, he said, he took home forty years, by direct help of God and the burning bush, to get away from the Egyptian masters of his people and he got only forty miles from them in forty years and then he had to continue a warfare in the promised land such as would shock the intelligence of modern civilization to its very foundations were such thing to be going on today.

Mr. Porter advised the negro to educate himself, to stand for virtue, for morality, and then to get a religion and join a church. And that in local affairs, in all kinds of public morals, and civic improvements to first learn how the best element of white people stood, irrespective of politics, and then stand shoulder to shoulder with the best people for all public good, and the results would be a fitting climax to all the race problems that have in any way pestered the people for the past forty years or more.

TAFT IS GOING TO LOUISVILLE

Probably to Speak There Next Thursday.

The Candidate Now Will Spend Three Days Speaking in Ohio.

TALKS IT OVER WITH VORYS.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—National Chairman Hitchcock said that inasmuch as Mr. Taft would be in Ohio next week, near the border line of West Virginia he had arranged to have the candidate speak at Wheeling on the night of October 14. The chairman hopes to have Mr. Taft speak in Louisville on next Thursday night. Mr. Taft will speak in Youngstown, O., the night before election, and Mr. Hitchcock is endeavoring to arrange to have the candidate appear in Chicago on October 24 before his swing east.

Secretary Strauss, of the department of commerce and labor, will leave Washington the end of next week, speaking in Cincinnati on October 19; Indianapolis, October 20; Chicago, October 21; St. Louis, October 22, and Louisville, October 23.

Three Days in Ohio.
Mr. Hitchcock announced that beginning next Monday Mr. Taft would spend three days in his home state, and after visits to Maryland, West Virginia and possibly Kentucky and Tennessee, the Republican candidate will stump Indiana on October 22, 23 and 24. Mr. Hitchcock said:

"Some changes were made in Mr. Taft's plans. I have talked with members of the Ohio state committee and have arranged to give Ohio three days October 12, 13 and 14. The state committee is now arranging the itinerary. During the six days following the trip through Ohio, Mr. Taft will speak in West Virginia, Maryland and probably one day in Kentucky, and one day in Tennessee.

"Mr. Taft will be in Indiana for three days, commencing October 22, when with Senator Beveridge and Vice President Fairbanks, they will begin the general wind-up of the campaign in that state.

"Mr. Taft will speak in several Consecutive cities during the daytime of October 25, and in Brooklyn on the evening of the same day. Mr. Taft will be in New York all the week of October 26, speaking in Rochester, Utica, Syracuse, Albany and Buffalo. On October 28, Mr. Taft, Governor Hughes with George A. Knight, of California, will speak at Madison Square Garden, in New York City. This will probably be the biggest mass meeting of our campaign."

Mr. Hitchcock said he would not be able to leave for the east until Sunday as he desired to complete Mr. Taft's speaking dates while in Chicago. The chairman has appointed William Eustis, of Minnesota; Reed Smoot, of Utah; James D. Hoge, of Washington, and William H. J. Kieckhefer, of Wisconsin, chairman of the finance committees in their states.

16 TO 1 TWIN

HUGHES SAYS BRYAN'S NEW PROPOSAL IS NEXT OF KIN.

New York Governor Makes Vigorous
Reply to Attacks on His Administration.

Wichita, Kan., Oct. 10.—"Vote for Mr. Bryan's new proposals and you will support the next of kin, the heir-at-law, the very twin of Mr. Bryan's old 16 to 1 policies."

This assertion was made by Governor Hughes, of New York, to the voters of Kansas in a speech-making tour in the state, which culminated here. Governor Hughes spoke at eight towns to assemblies of farmers, railroad employees and business men.

At Herington, after leaving St. Joseph, Mo., Governor Hughes, pointing his finger at a crowd of working men, said: "Don't let anybody tell you that Mr. Taft is not the friend of labor. Mr. Taft has done more for labor than have any of his opponents. While his opponents have been indulging his finger in a crowd of working men, he has been working for the people. He has had his coat off and with sleeves rolled up has been tackling some of the hardest jobs that ever confronted this country."

In a speech at Topeka Governor Hughes said attacks had recently been made upon him in connection with contributions to his campaign funds, while running for governor two years ago, and he took occasion to reply to them.

When the governor arrived here the announcements for his reception read: "Mr. Hughes will be welcomed by a calliope, four brass bands, citizens on horseback and a few on foot."

Rejects Bryan Remedies.

Governor Hughes said: "I have become convinced that the voters of the middle west are not going to be influenced next month by any clap-net. Mr. Bryan told you some years ago that the only remedy for the salvation of the country was 16 to 1. Now we have no limit to our gratification that the country did not have to be saved that way. But he has got a lot of new remedies which he proposes we shall take, and says that an ounce of remedy is worth a pound of fault-finding. An ounce of his new remedies would kill any industry, you may be sure. We do not want to have it kill to cure. We do not want to cripple business in order to eradicate some of the abuses of it. We do not wish to have to abandon reforms already under way for revolutionary schemes which have never been tried."

Before the arrival of Governor Hughes at Topeka handbills opposing Mr. Taft and disparaging the New York governor had been distributed in the crowd. It was not indicated on the handbills by whose authority they had been circulated. Referring to them Governor Hughes said:

"While going through the middle west, talking to the people on the issues of this campaign, I have not indulged in personal abuse, nor have I made any reflection upon the motives or character of my opponents."

"Now I find myself followed by efforts to create prejudice by scurrilous insinuations. I find efforts made to reflect upon my own character and purpose by references to contributions that were made to my campaign fund in New York two years ago."

Says Record Is Clear.

"The contributions that were made when I ran for governor of New York against Mr. Hendat had nothing whatever to do with my purposes, my policies or my official action. When I was nominated for governor I called my flag to the mast, and there it has been floating ever since. It stood for favors to none and justice to all. It stood against every effort to pervert the machinery of government to selfish purposes. As soon as I was inducted into office I prepared a plan for the effective regulation of our public service corporations, to prevent depredations and financial freebooting. Today the reactionary forces of New York—everybody that is desirous to have license to prey upon the people—are trying to down me, and rebuke my administration."

"If, after the toll and works of the past two years, it is possible successfully to asperse my motives and official action, there is no use in trying to serve the people."

Nan and the Bucket.

There is one particular fever of housewifery which the Pelican Tiger claims the credit of having originated, for in the November issue, 1932 appeared the following verse:

There once was a man from Nan-bucket,

Who kept all his cash in a bucket,
But his laughter, named Nnn,
Ran away with a man.

And as for the bucket—Nan-bucket.

For the next few months Nan, her father and her newly acquired husband encountered a series of the most astonishing adventures in every known hemisphere in the country which could be converted into humor from the brains of newspaper and magazine writers from sea to sea. By the time Nan came back with a dozen or so additional verses tacked on to her there is no reason to wonder in the face of the odds to which she had been subjected whether the pecuniary advantage gained by absconding with that bucket would be for all that she had been through—Roy S. Durrant, in Bohemian Magazine.

Kaffir's Courtship.

The Kaffirs are a very light hearted people and do not worry about the future. As soon as the girls have finished their work they may take up the kibun, which is an elementary musical instrument, consisting of a taut bow fixed to a board, and march across country twanging the string with a little piece of reed. The instrument, as a rule, gives but one note, but to the girl's sweetest such music is "the fount of love."

"Beware of fair weather friends."
"Oh! I don't know. They're no worse than the kid who always want to borrow your umbrella."—Kansas City Journal.

DRESS-MAKERS

The nervous strain through which dressmakers have to pass at certain seasons of the year seems almost beyond endurance, and frequently brings on nervous prostration, fainting spells, dizziness, sleeplessness and a general breaking down of the feminine system, until life seems altogether miserable.

For all overworked women there is one tried and true remedy.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S

restores the feminine system to a strong, healthy, normal condition.

Mrs. Ella Griffin, of Park St., Canton, N.Y., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was troubled for three years with female weakness, backache, pains in my side, and headaches. I was most miserable and discouraged, for doctors gave me no relief. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought back my health and made me feel better than ever before."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

In the spring of 1858 Rev. Martin John Spalding, then bishop of Louisville, made an Episcopal visitation to Paducah and found the town so thriving and full of promise that he judged it should have a good Catholic school without delay. He proposed the work to the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth and urged them to open there an academy. Rev. M. Reymund, then pastor, favored the undertaking. The ladies of the congregation hastened themselves, putting up a bazaar to help the cause. In this they were readily assisted by their Protestant friends. They realized about $200, which served to defray the first expenses. On Third street, back of the church, adjoining General Tillman's residence, Mr. Tolson Woolfolk had a brick house in process of erection. It was agreed that the Sisters would rent this building until such time as they should be able to procure a home of their own.

Sisters Martha Drury, Sophia Carlan, Beatrice Skyes, and De Sales Carney came early in September to begin the school. The house on Court street was not quite ready, therefore the sisters accepted for three or four weeks, the hospitality of Messrs. Henry Hider and Charles Daly, whose families occupied contiguous cottages. They rented Fletcher's ice cream parlor, which formed the upper story of a frame building on Broadway, quite near the church. There they began to teach—about the first Monday in October, which was the third day of the month, that year. Sixty pupils were entered the first day. Before the end of October the Sisters had taken up their lodgings and taught their classes in the Woolfolk house. A few months later, they bought Judge Morrow's residence, slightly situated on the corner of Fifth and Monroe streets, where the school yet stands. This was a neat, roomy frame structure. Sister Martha, with keen foresight, subsequently secured adjoining lots. She said, "The school will grow and if there is ground enough it will be easy in time to add buildings." She was right.

The present handsome brick convent was erected, and in this Golden Jubilee year, the finishing touch has been given the work when the substantial and elegant school building was put up.

The Name.

By Sister Martha's own wish, with the approbation of the Rt. Rev. Bishop Spalding and the Nazareth central government, the institution was called Saint Mary's Academy from the very first. The books were so labeled, and a beautiful blasphemous statue of the Blessed Virgin, which Sister Martha carried in her own hands all the way from Nazareth, was prominently installed in the community room, of which it was almost the sole ornament for some time. It was meant to emphasize the fact that the institution was under the patronage of Saint Mary, the Queen of saints.

In June, 1859, the first commencement was held. It was presided by two or three days of public examinations, which were well attended. Judges Noble and Murray were the chief examiners. All were pleased and the reputation of St. Mary's Academy was irrevocably established. Sister Martha and her companions laid the foundation well. Her strong character left its impress in the hearts of the people. She and her earliest co-laborers have passed away but their work remains and doubtless they are enjoying the reward of their labors.

During the Civil War, the Sisters were obliged to discontinue their classes, and they willingly took charge of a hospital where their services were freely given as long as they were needed. During this time, a gifted and beloved young Sister, Sister Mary Luch Dosh, succumbed under the work, and her funeral was attended with military honors. Her remains were conveyed to Union county on a gunboat, with a military escort.

It was like beginning again when the school was resumed in the spring of 1862. The Sister's work has been woven into the very life of Paducah, for they have shared the sorrows and the joys of its people.

Sister Sophia, who held the position of first teacher at the beginning, was Sister Martha's successor as Superior of St. Mary's. She was replaced, for a brief term, by Sister Lauretta Harrigan; then came Sister Mary Regina Hambury, under whose administration the convent was built. She in turn was succeeded by Sister Isabel Henry, who had been teacher of the first classes and so identified with the Academy for many years. Sister Anathin O'Leary next guided the affairs of the institution. To the seventh Superior, Sister Anna Hynes, it was given to erect the new academy building and so crown the jubilee year of an institution whose work has been far-reaching, as a third generation of pupils may proudly tell.

The cocklebur as a Prophet.

The cocklebur is an almost infallible weather prophet, so far as the advent of frost and cold weather is concerned. The burrs hang on, soft and spongy, without seeming to mature, although they may have attained full size, until just a week or two before the coming of frost; then they suddenly ripen and harden, their hooks become like steel, the seed pod turns brown, and when cut open shows the seed to be perfectly mature; and when this is the case, frost may be expected any day and generally comes within a week after the seed are safe.

So well known is this fact in all parts of the south that in the yellow fever epidemic which formerly cured the southern states the people would go out into the pastures and waste places to look at cockleburs, and form an idea how soon frost would come and put an end to the plague. They had confidence in the sign, for they knew from long observation that the cockleburs would tell the truth, and though every farmer hated the troublesome things that clogged up the tails of his horses and converted those of the cows into clubs, hard and heavy enough to knock the milker down, yet the southern granger had a respect for the plant, which informed him when to get ready for frost.

Only a very rich man is in a position to appreciate the advantages of poverty.

QUESTION OF OUR NATIONAL PRESTIGE
IN CHINA AN ISSUE

Our national prestige in China was increased to a degree to which it had never before attained by the famous "open door" speech delivered by Mr. Taft in Shanghai, where he stopped when en route to Manila to open the Philippine assembly. Mr. Taft not only reiterated the policy of the "open door" for American trade interests in China which was pronounced by Secretary John Hay eight years ago. He enunciated it with even more emphasis, and at a time when a deliverance of the sort was urgently needed, not only to reassure American business interests in the kingdom, but also to satisfy the Chinese as to where the United States stood with reference to any movement which might be taken by other powers to bring about the dismemberment of China. In its international aspect his speech at Shanghai was accounted fully as significant and effective as his famous "peace speech" at Tokyo only a few days previous.

Mr. Taft's stop at Shanghai, which was necessitated by his traveling by the commercial route to the Philippines, was taken advantage of by the American association of China to arrange a banquet in his honor. He was asked to speak and earnestly urged to reaffirm the attitude of the United States with reference to China. To the end that our nationals in the kingdom might be assured that we still adhered to the open door policy and that American commercial interests there were sponsored, so far as possible, by our government. He did this in a speech which was copied far and wide, not only in the English press of the entire east, but in the vernacular publications as well. Coming, as it did, from a cabinet officer, the speech was taken as an ex-cathedra utterance of a man whose present position, as well as future prospects, rendered it positive that he spoke with authority and personal conviction.

Mr. Taft's speech was construed by the Chinese to mean that the old-time friendship between the two countries was not lessened in strength, and that, more than ever, the United States was the one nation among all upon whose support and disinterested good-will the Chinese government could absolutely depend. Our attitude toward China was described by Mr. Taft as follows:

"The policy of the government of the United States has been authoritatively stated to be that of seeking the permanent safety and peace of China, the preservation of Chinese territorial and administrative entity, the protection of all rights guaranteed by her to friendly powers by treaty and international law, and as a safeguard for the world, the principle of equal and impartial trade with all parts of the Chinese Empire. The government of the United States has not deviated in the slightest way from its attitude in this regard since the policy was announced by Secretary Hay in 1900.

"American trade with China is sufficiently great to require the government of the United States to take every legitimate means to protect it against discrimination or injury by the political preference of any of its competitors. It would have the right to protest against exclusion from Chinese trade by a departure from the policy of the open door.

"How far the United States would go in the protection of its Chinese trade no one, of course, could say. This much is clear, however, that the merchants of the United States are being roused to the importance of their Chinese export trade, that they would view political obstacles to its expansion with deep concern, and that this feeling of theirs would be likely to find expression in the attitude of the American government."

Some politicians are like circus posters—always on the fence.

Candidate Bryan's declaration that a platform is binding as to what it omits as well as to what it contains is of special importance in its bearing upon the money question. The Denver platform makes no mention whatever of the money question, yet according to Mr. Bryan's ruling it is binding as to the monetary issue. The Democratic national platform of 1904, also dodged the money question, so that in order to find out just where this year's platform is binding with respect to that issue we must go back to those years in which the Democracy had the courage to make an open-face declaration of principle. That takes us to 1900, when the Democratic platform readopted the platform of 1896, which pledged the party to the free and unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1. As to that issue, Mr. Bryan serves notice that this year's platform is binding, notwithstanding its omission. His attitude is clearly defined in a speech delivered in Knoxville, Tenn., September 16, 1896, in the course of which he said:

"If there is any one who believes the gold standard is a good thing, or that it must be maintained, I warn him not to cast his vote for me, because I promise him it will not be maintained in this country longer than I am able to get rid of it."

It is but simple justice to Mr. Bryan to point out that he has never withdrawn his threat to destroy the gold standard. He has never recognized it as permanent or desirable and has never admitted that it is the only secure foundation for our monetary system. He has never uttered a word nor written a line to indicate the slightest modification of the financial doctrines which he so noisily proclaimed in 1896. He frankly acknowledges that those doctrines are binding upon him in spite of the silence of this year's platform.

Will Beat Weather Sharper.

New York, Oct. 10. Meteorologists in the employ of Uncle Sam's weather bureau, as well as the general public, will have an opportunity today to judge Mrs. Eva F. Smith Wilkins as the new weather sharp. Mrs. Wilkins, who recently created quite a sensation by her accurate predictions, will give demonstrations today on the roof of the Hotel Gotham. She promises to forecast the weather for today and tomorrow, covering twenty-four hours. It is expected that at 1:30 this morning the rival of the weather bureau will take her position on the highest possible point of the hotel's roof, and after studying the clouds, their color, size, shape, movement and changes, will pronounce her forecast.

According to Mrs. Wilkins, "God put the signs into the heavens for man, and His signs prove better than man's."

The average man would rather admit that he is wrong than to admit the other fellow is right.

A bottom draft coal stove is like burning a candle upside down

Burning the candle upside down is wasting the candle. That is so true that it is the axiom of waste.

But that is just what you do with all bottom draft coal stoves.

COLE'S HOT BLAST exactly reverses this process. See this picture of a sectional view of Cole's Hot Blast which shows the down draft.

In an ordinary stove the gas (half the heat value) rises from the top surface of the coal as the coal burns, and the gas goes right on up the chimney. The Hot Blast first on top of the fire burns the coal from the top—burns the gas. Makes the coal last twice as long.

Note this—you cannot shut off—or control ordinary stoves promptly because, though you do shut off the air out of the main draft, air is coming in through dozens of small cracks, giving the fire a draft which is in no way controlled. You notice this when a stove keeps on heating long after you have shut it off.

Large Orders Keep the Mills Busy in Country—Increase in Employees 20 Percent Since March.

New York, Oct. 30.—Reports from various parts of the state indicate that New York, since the first of October, has experienced the spur of reviving trade and industry. Mills have resumed operation. Railroads are pushed almost to capacity. Wholesale merchants in this city report large orders. Optimism has seized upon all. The general increase of work among mills and other concerns employing laborers is shown by the statement of the state labor commission that practically 20 per cent more men are at work in New York state than in last March.

Business men and students of commerce and industry here who keep closely informed concerning the situation throughout the country make favorable reports. The bumper crops are keeping railroads throughout the country busy. Money that for months lay idle in banks is rapidly changing hands from banker to farmer, from farmer to tradesman and from tradesman to others, giving increasing confidence and indicating that the depression, caused by the money panic of last fall, swiftly is passing away.

Optimism in Business.

The interesting thing is the hopeful attitude concerning business conditions expressed by Democratic papers throughout the country. Though they would put the blame for the people on President Roosevelt and argue against the election of William H. Taft as president on that ground, they point in other columns to the rapidly with which the country is recovering from the panic. So optimistic is the feeling reported in New York and other states that the only sentiment hindering a still more recovery is the tendency to wait the result of the election in November. If Bryan is elected, business men assert, business will collapse, but the moment it is known that Taft has been the choice of the American people, business will boom as never before.

"The halt in the business expansion," said John Wanamaker, "has been only temporary. No one need have any fear for the future. Of course, Mr. Taft will be elected and the Republicans will reverse the tariff. Mr. Taft is a door of death and he is ushering the country into a new era of prosperity. He will continue the work begun by President McKinley, and make it will be proved that a nation is the place for great achievements."

Recent Number of Buyers.

Department stores throughout the city are experiencing larger buying. The general hopeful feeling throughout the country is shown by the stream of buyers for retail houses that has flocked into the city in the last two months. The total registration is greater than for a similar period of last year. Buyers report cheerfully of the situation in their home towns. The bumper crops, they say, have put hundreds, and even thousands, of extra dollars into the pockets of thrifty farmers. While they themselves a year ago were nervous about giving large orders, they admitted they had no such feelings this year and they ordered larger amounts of goods and asked for immediate shipment. These orders in turn mean greater activity in many factories.

The iron and steel trade, which is a barometer of the manufacturing business, has shown increased activity within the last week. In the last ten days in the eastern territories about 40,000 tons of basic iron have been ordered for delivery in the early part of the year from companies not in the United States steel corporation. Lumber companies with offices in New York report increased volume of business. They say that the railroads, which a year ago canceled orders, have renewed their purchases of lumber for ties and other construction work. The report of the association which keeps watch on the number of empty railroad cars standing idle on side tracks showed that for the first half of September there was a decrease of more than 50,000 cars. Railroads are giving more work daily to men and the moving of the vast crops has given promise of large dividends to investors in railroad securities, while railroad employees are kept busy. On September 16 there were only 170,652 cars idle and later reports indicate that a part of those also have been pressed into service.

Increased Bank Deposits.

Another striking indication of the prosperity is the activity of diamond factories. Naturally, with the first suggestion of stringency in the money market, such factories receive a check and they are usually the last in any industrial disturbance to receive new orders. Still another hopeful sign is the influx of immigrants. Though in the stress of last October thousands of foreigners, who had made large wages here, quickly bought suitcase tickets and returned to their native homes, so that in the New York port 527,000 workmen returned to their homes while only 276,000 immigrants landed. Within the last month the tide has changed and foreigners, quickly perceiving the opportunity for work at much higher wages than in their native countries, are pouring into the United States.

Throughout the west many cities report increased bank deposits. In Minneapolis, for instance, deposits in national banks increased $15,000,000 in less than three months. Minneapolis deposits now are the largest in the history of that city. In Oregon the bank clearances have been so large that newspapers in that state generally have been commenting upon them as evidence of good times.

SCARE WEARS OFF AS FACTS APPEAR

Taft Certain To Carry States Thought To Be Doubtful In West.

CHANGES SINCE YEAR, 1896

New York, Oct. 30.—Satisfactory assurances have come to Chairman Frank H. Hitchcock and his associates on the Republican national committee presaging the election of Taft and Sherman, and the retention by the Republicans of the balance of power in congress, probably by an augmented majority.

This is the most important news that has come from the inner circle at the national headquarters since the commencement of the campaign. Although not officially disseminated, the facts became known today through sources of unquestioned authenticity. It can definitely be said that:

Taft will carry each of the twenty states classed as safely Republican with their 206 electoral votes.

Taft will carry most of the so-called doubtful states, which are eleven in number, with a majority of their 116 votes in the electoral college.

Taft will obtain from the doubtful states at least double the 35 votes which are necessary to give him 242 votes, or a majority of the 482 votes in the electoral college.

Taft will carry Colorado, Indiana, Minnesota, New York, Utah, South Dakota, and Wisconsin, with their 87 electoral votes.

Taft stands a better than good show of carrying Maryland and Nebraska, while Montana will be close.

At the present time the percentage of the undetermined vote, composed of the element who are still open to conviction, is far less than usual, according to the reports that have come to national headquarters from the state leaders, who have in turn been apprised of conditions by the district and county leaders.

It was the decision of the bulk of the voters that gave Chairman Hanna and his associates their great success in 1896. The voters were thinking a lot, but talking little. Men who in ordinary years could take a pound and check off the voters in their election districts, accurately tabulating each as Democrat or Republican, were at a loss to make a canvass that was even approximately correct. It was not until a week or so before election day that the wind shifted in the Republican quarter, and Mr. Hanna felt that he could sit back, confident of the result of the poll.

But, having made up their minds respecting Mr. Bryan in 1896, having taken his measure and his calibre of statesmanship, the voters did not amend their opinion of him in 1900, and their status remains unchanged this year.

Mr. Bryan is breaking no new ground in any state. He is following the same furrows that he did the two previous times he ran, and occasionally diverting the point of his plow around a rock reared in his path by Republican strength which was not opposed to him in 1900. For instance, there is no hope for him in Colorado, which he carried by nearly 20,000 in 1900. He is having hard stalling, too, in Montana, where his plurality was more than 11,000.

Wisconsin and Minnesota, where the Democrats allowed their hopes to run high a month ago, will go for Taft, especially Wisconsin, after Senator La Follette's enthusiastic and unqualified endorsement of Mr. Taft and his principles. That told the knell for Bryan's expectations there.

Vote Since 1896.

It is interesting and instructive to analyze the presidential vote since 1896 in some of the states which Democratic forecasts class as doubtful, and see what Mr. Bryan will have to overcome in order to place any of them in the Democratic column.

In 1896 Colorado went Democratic by 131,000. Roosevelt carried it by 21,000 in 1904.

In 1896 Montana went Democratic by 32,000; Roosevelt carried it by 13,000 in 1904.

In 1896 Nebraska went Democratic by 34,000; Roosevelt carried it by 86,000 in 1904.

In 1896 Utah went Democratic by 51,000. Roosevelt carried it by 29,000 in 1904.

In 1896 South Dakota went Democratic by approximately 200. Roosevelt carried it by 20,000 in 1904.

To go back a little farther, the Republicans between 1892 and 1900 wiped out a Democratic plurality of 6,000 in Wisconsin with a Republican plurality of 156,000 and overcame a Democratic plurality of 4,000 in West Virginia by a Republican plurality of 31,000.

In Indiana the Republican plurality of 18,000 in 1896 had been fattened to 83,000 in 1904, that of 52,000 in Minnesota to 151,000 and that of Wisconsin from 11,000 to 51,000. Illinois was Democratic by 27,000 in 1892, the Republican by 305,000 in 1904.

Serene Not Apathetic.

There is no rainbow chasing being indulged in, or speculative fancies encouraged at Republican headquarters. The leaders of the campaign know where they stand, and their estimates have been subjected to the hard, logical test of common sense and political logic. They have found, too, that a good share of the apathy which was said to be rendering the campaign lethargic in safe sections did not exist. What passed for apathy was largely a condition of confidence induced by the knowledge of the local Republicans that no defections from the normal vote were to be feared. While this serenity and contentment of mind was dangerous in a measure, because of its aptness to breed over-confidence, the word has been passed along not to risk anything by inaction, but from now on to keep the voters interested and impress them with the necessity of guarding against eleven-hour surprises or campaign overbores of Democratic inspiration.

Taft on Labor.

What has gratified Chairman Hitchcock especially is the manifest disposition of the labor men, particularly through the western and middle western states, to accept Mr. Taft's sturdy and independent stand on his labor record as convincing evidence of his honesty of purpose and his friendly feeling toward unionists and unionism.

Mr. Taft's repeated declarations that he had nothing to be ashamed of, or to retreat in his judicial rulings in labor cases, that he did his duty under the law, that none of his decisions were antagonistic to labor, that labor had profited, rather than lost, by his decisions, and that he would follow the same course peacefully under similar circumstances, has inspired great admiration. While the labor men, being most interested, have naturally paid more attention than other citizens to this phase of Mr. Taft's campaign, the rest of the voters have not been indifferent to what was going on. Mr. Taft has strengthened himself among all classes by his refusal to shrink the labor issue and retreat under fire.

Bishop Potter's Living.

The recent death of Bishop Potter recalls a like incident that was told by a newspaper woman who had come to New York from the west. One of her first assignments was to interview the bishop. She made an appointment by telephone, but on account of other engagements was unable to be on time. However, when she arrived she found the bishop ready to receive her. He cordially invited her to be seated and inquired as to the exact nature of the desired information.

Then in his characteristic manner he dictated his statement. After the reporter had finished writing she courteously offered to read what she had written. The bishop insisted that he knew it was correct and allowed it to go without hearing it.

As the reporter arose to take her leave she said graciously: "I thank you, Bishop Potter, and appreciate how much it means for a busy person like you to give your time to reporters."

"Patting her on the shoulder, in a fatherly manner he replied: "My dear little woman we are both earning our living."

Plenty of Capital.
A year ago there was not enough money available to finance the needs of mankind. Today, American bank reserves are at the highest point in a decade, and the Bank of England's rate is as low as it has been in ten years. In 1907 expansion in every conceivable line in all civilized countries stopped short. Since then all industries in all lands have merely marked time. Under such conditions the accumulation of idle money has grown rapidly, until now it exceeds the supply for many years. Lack of liquid capital last year was the cause of the remarkable and world-wide shut-down. Miss Hortense Nelson, Who Comes to The Kentucky at an Early Date.

THEATRICAL NOTES

Hortense Nelson, well known as a talented actress of emotional roles, is slated to appear at The Kentucky during the coming month. Miss Nelson has a splendid reputation as an actress, capable of portraying with distinguished ability and authority the great roles of the serious modern drama.

Following the announcement that Al. H. Wilson, the striking Ambassador of German dialect, has a new

These songs will be heard for the first time in this city when Mr. Wilson makes his annual visit.

Al. H. Wilson's infatigable songs, like Eugene Field's poems, are a part of childhood life and have done much to make his name a household word throughout the land. Many a child will remember in after years that the last song heard as they entered summerland endeth in their mother's arms, was the tuneful refrain of a Wilson melody.

As a medium for the display of Al. H. Wilson's infatigable songs, he appears at The Kentucky, October 15, has this season provided "When Old New York Was Laid" surrounded him with an exceptional staff supporting company and added to the production scenic effects of the surpassing order. Few dramatic actors and singers have won as rapidly in the estimation of the public as has Al. H. Wilson, and few have reached a position as permanently gratifying.

The present season of the play shows dramatic sentiment on what is now Midway Island in the days when America was young, and is typical of the conditions and atmosphere which surrounded the pioneer settlers of the far west, known as New York City.

Lovers' last dramatic act will welcome to this city of Hortense Nelson, the great emotional actress, an early date. "Miss Nelson's" are more appreciated every day and a production this season will show a quality even more than ever before. She is without doubt the greatest emotional actress on the stage today for her age, and a brilliant favorite in store for her in her plays "Nana" and "Mrs. Dan's Deception."

An "Easy Money" Warning.

"I want to warn all young men against the fall of so-called 'easy money,'" said a convict recently, as he was preparing to go on the operating table at Kansas City prison. "It is one of the prime causes of much sorrow," he continued, "and the lure is so great that few young men can resist it. The before mounting the operating table, he asked for pencil and paper, then might write a message to those in the 'outside' as he felt that he could not survive, still and the young man will recover but his advisers as to good that the physician gave the statement to a paper in that city, hoping that it might warn others. In his letter the man did not run at fate because of human circumstances. 'For long years I toiled and saved my honest-earned dollars, but in a reckless moment a conviction told me of a scheme whereby I could earn 'easy money' at a far greater rate than the wage for which I toiled. The first venture succeeded and others followed. I forgot the real value of money—forgot, also, the angst of labor required to earn an honest dime, so then when my venture failed, I felt that I could go back to my trade which paid me $2 per day. From reliance to ruin I went, until a 'square deal' kept nothing to me, and I threw my head to the winds and went after 'easy money.' It is the worst lure in the world and should be shunned."—Columbus 10.1 Press-Post.

FASCINATED BY THE STARS.

Astronomers Never Tired of Studying the Infinity of the Heavens.

Few problems which the astronomer has undertaken to solve are so fascinating as ascertaining the extent of stellar space. Newcomb estimates the number of stars visible in the most powerful telescope as more than a hundred millions. They are most numerous at the points most remote from that amazing globe, it was called the "galactic pole," now known that the center of our galaxy is in the direction of the star, Antares, a key to their distance from the earth. The one or two million stars that are more numerous than the sun—and little ones—are packed in fairly definite proper space. At least three of the six largest magnitudes are thus distributed. Further investigation is needed to determine whether the rule holds good for the stars which are apparently smaller.

Professor J. C. Kapteyn, a leading Dutch astronomer, found a week or two ago in London the progress made with the study of the distance of the stars. A line beyond which it will eventually be impossible to go, he believes, has not been reached, but he thinks that the arrangement has been approximately determined for an imaginary sphere having a radius of two thousand "light years." For various reasons it is considered undesirable to employ "miles" in indicating celestial distances. A more convenient term is a phrase representing the length of the journey taken by a ray of light in a year. This is about 650,000 times 93,000,000 miles, or upward of six trillion miles. The nearest of the fixed stars is three and a half light years away from the sun. If the boundaries of the universe were two thousand light years distant they would be almost inconceivably remote, but these figures are accepted by experts as final. Professor Newcomb has expressed the opinion that "nearby" stars are within the limit of thirty-three hundred light years. Professor Kapteyn, having a calculation of the rate at which the farther stars seem to diminish in number with distance, deems it possible that the universe may have a radius of three thousand light years. To express this distance in miles one needs to write "18" and

S.S.S. BEST TREATMENT FOR CATARRH

The entire inner portion of our bodies is covered with a soft, delicate lining called mucous membrane; this is kept in healthy condition by the nourishment and vital vigor it receives from the blood. So long as the circulation remains pure this membrane will be healthy, but when the blood becomes infected with catarrhal impurities and poisons this inner lining of the body becomes irritated and diseased, and the unpleasant and serious symptoms of Catarrh commence. There is a tight, stuffy feeling in the nostrils, watery eyes, buzzing noises in the ears, often slight deafness, difficult breathing, etc. The disease cannot be reached by external treatment, though such measures afford temporary relief in some instances. S. S. S. cures Catarrh by cleansing the blood of all impurities and poisons. Then as rich, pure blood circulates through the body, the inflamed, irritated membrane heals, the discharge ceases, headaches are relieved and every symptom disappears. Catarrh, being a disease in which the entire blood circulation is affected, can only be cured by a remedy that goes to the very bottom and removes every particle of the impurity from the blood, and this is just what S. S. S. does. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free to all who write.

She knew the place.
The elderly matron with the kindles, who was journeying to a point in Wisconsin and occupied a seat near the middle of the car, had fallen asleep. On the seat in front of her sat a little boy. The brakeman opened the door of the car and called out the name of the station the train was approaching. The elderly woman roused herself with a jerk.
"Where are we, Hobby?" she cried.
"I don't know, grandma," answered the little boy.
"Didn't the brakeman say some-

Its alphabet, its elementary principles—were long ago learned by us and are applied: Ability ("know-how" and skill); best materials (soap, water, starch, etc.); care (the "conscious" of any successful business man). Hence it is that our work pleases 99 out of 100 of our patrons—the odd 1 should be, and is, a negligible quantity.
